

CARJACKING

Carjacking takes place very quickly. Most only take 15 to 20 seconds to complete.

- A carjacking can be violent. Drivers have been beaten or even murdered while being pulled out of their car.
- Carjackers are usually armed, either with a gun or a knife.
- A carjacking may first involve a minor vehicle accident. The victim's vehicle is "bumped" at a stop sign, red light or interstate off ramp. When they exit their vehicle to check the damage, the carjacker may display a weapon and take the vehicle.
- A carjacking may also occur at stop signs or lights. The carjacker may approach the vehicle, display a weapon and order the victim out of his/her vehicle.
- As a victim is entering or exiting their vehicle, the suspect may be standing close by, be in a parked vehicle hiding by other parked vehicles or building.
- Anybody can be a target. Carjackers look for targets of opportunity.

If Confronted While Stopped
