Safety Tips for Teen Drivers

Drive sober. Alcohol and drugs are illegal, slow your reaction-time, and distort reality. At the same time, they may make you think you're an awesome driver. Avoid this bad combination.

Ride with sober drives…if you’re in doubt about their sobriety… DON”T GO WITH THEM…call someone to come get you. Your parents would rather come get you than have you take the risk of riding with someone that has been drinking or using drugs.

Always use your safety belt. These are the facts: air bags are made to work with safety belts, and most crashes happen close to home. So “Get Buckled” for every trip, every time and everyone in the car.

Don't tailgate. Tailgating is a stupid reason to get in a crash. Try to keep four car lengths following distance between your car and the vehicle in front of you.

Focus on your driving. Don't blast the music, talk on the phone, text message eat, study, or put on makeup while driving. Driving is NOT the place to multi-task!!

Don't load up your car with too many friends. Focus on your driving and resist distractions and peer pressure.

Don't get stressed out. Pretend everyone else on the road is a close, personal friend. If the traffic situation around you makes you nervous, pull over and relax a minute, then get back on the road. If it becomes more than you can handle, call someone to come get you.

Check the rearview mirror before and after you brake--every time.

Follow traffic safety rules and don't drive faster than the speed limit.

Never let friends drive your car. If your friends drive your car and crash, you could lose money, car privileges, a friendship, and even your life.

Drive like your life depends on it…..because it really does.
